Bloody instructions, which being taught, return To plague the inventor.

If empiricism be closely examined it will be found that its origin and first progress are not more ludicrous than its consequences are fatal; so that whether in physic or in politics, it may truly be called the merry come sorrow of mankind. The malade imaginaire, or hypocondriac is the first that enters on this scene—the doating old Lady Bountiful follows—the Quack succeeds, and the sexton furnishes the catastrophe with his spade. During the course of the play, many curious incidents occur, and personages come on. KEYSEE and LEAKE, SOLOMON and BRODUM, and a hundred others go off on one side with their pockets full; while their patients on the other, present a groupe resembling a field on the close of a day of battle—some lame, some blind, some groaning, some moaning and motionless, though alive, and many more motionless, because dead. The pranks performed, and the mischiefs accomplished, by the Medical Quack, however, are few and trivial when compared with those of the Political Empiric—here the comedy is less, and the tragedy more. Individual and family injury follow in the train of the one—national desolation in that of the other. The whole tribe of quacks in physic, from the first cataplasm that ever was laid to human flesh, up to the last box of pills that was opened yesterday, taking in with the avowed all the secret ones, the regular troops, as well as volunteers—whether pushing forward with college diplomas in their hands, or self-puffs in the papers, have not performed half the ruin that has been accomplished by a single political quack. The malade imaginaire is the people—the quack is the demagogue, and he in the upshot either calls in a friend, or himself in person performs the sexton, in the shape of a despot, who with the sword and gibbet, instead of a spade and shovel, closes the whole with the never-failing catastrophe. There is this difference, however, between medical and political empiricism; in the former, the hypocondriac precedes and creates the quack—in the latter, the quack creates the hypocondriac. But the worst of it is, that in both cases, when once the habit of taking medicine is acquired, an appetite for it continues long after the original disorder, if ever there had really been any—and this it is the interest of the quack to encourage; so that at last physical medicine becomes almost the daily food of one, and political medicine, alias innovation and revolution, that of the other—as if drugs and revolutions were in themselves intrinsically pleasant and salubrious.

of the deep, the Coriscan—quasi in gungite vasso. But the spirit which animated them, now sweeps over America, destroying its happiness and wailing its constitutional strength.—The insatiable spirit of innovation—omniverous innovation, which, like a certain animal, procreates eternally, and then devours its offspring, now agitates the union. With change after change it is unsatisfied. Jacobinism at this moment as much alive, though not so actively sanguinary, in America as it once was in France, has now brought this union to the last station of that political anticlimax—the lowest step in that ladder by which it brought down that great country to the grasp of a foreign usurper, and by pretty much the same means. Of the different ranks, which, in spite of man's efforts, Nature erects, and ever will erect, in every country, by means of her bounteous gifts of talents and virtues, Jacobinism ever aims at the destruction of the highest, and contrives by cunning stratagem to enlist all the inferior ranks against it, and by exciting all the bad passions, jealousy, suspicion, and envy, to beguile them into one common cause, as if against a common enemy: No sooner has Jacobinism completely effected this than it creates a further division, and separates from the mass the next rank, who are little to be pitied, as they had joined in destroying the first: Thus it succeeds, cutting off piece by piece, till it gets the dregs of the society to the top. When that is done, then Jacobinism is triumphant, for those are her own appropriate instruments; and with those, she, or some of her favorite minions, in shape of a despot, rules the whole, and rules those very instruments themselves. In the prosecution of this plan, she calumniates or eulogizes just as suits her purpose, truth being to her alien and abhorrent. In depreciation of those she wills to put down, there is no falsehood, however glaring, no calumny, however infamous, that she will hesitate to utter. To advance those whom she wishes to succeed, there is no eulogy however false, fulsome, or bloated, which she will not bestow, and seal the gift with the sacred signet of an oath. Those whose praise she trumpeted and swore to yesterday, to-day she will calumniate on oath in their turn. And thus go, calumniating one set of men out of office, and eulogizing another, and a worse, into it, in endless succession, till she accomplishes her purpose.

Congratulatory addresses flowed in upon the governor from those very persons, couched in terms of the most extravagant eulogy; and in reply to them he descended so low as to emulate them in abuse of the federalists and even to adopt the language of the most vile, venomous and infamous prints of that day; calling his opponents in the election, aristocrats, old Tories and apostate whigs. By those and such sort of means did Mr. Kean excited the very worst passions in the community to aid him in his ambition depending no doubt upon his own talents, as well as influence and authority, to keep them down in subserviency to his views. But he has found that not doing so he overrated his own powers; that as evil raised him to power, evil still greater may possibly hurl him from it; that though he could ride on the whirlwind, he cannot guide the storm; and that in the means which he took to destroy the federalists, he only gave strength to the pernicious system of policy by which he is himself now assailed. Like Macbeth, he has judgment here, that he has but taught bad instructions, which being taught, now return to plague the inventor.

The day previous to the Brutus's sailing from Lisbon, the American consul received a letter from Captain Bush, of the ship Thomas, of Norfolk, at St. Lucar, where, in he says he was boarded by one of admiral Nelson's frigates, who informed him the blockade of Cadiz and St. Lucar was raised, and permitted him to enter the latter port with a cargo of wheat from Bourdeaux. NORFOLK, July 19.

William and Mary College Lottery.
Yesterday the drawing of this lottery terminated, in a manner equally unexpected and unpleasant. As few tickets remained, it was certain that the drawing would finish in the early part of the day; the ten thousand dollar prize had not been drawn, and the last drawn ticket being a prize of ten thousand dollars, made this day's drawing extremely interesting; accordingly a large concourse of persons were assembled, expectation was on tiptoe, and speculation great, tickets sold towards the latter part of the drawing at three hundred dollars each. About twelve o'clock the drawing finished, but behold there was no ten thousand dollar prize in the wheel. This circumstance occasioned no small degree of astonishment to all present, and to none more than the managers, who knew that it was put into the wheel. An examination immediately took place when the mystery was cleared up; it appeared clearly, that there had been a mistake in calling the ten thousand dollar prize, a five hundred dollar prize, as there is one more five hundred dollar prize recorded than was put in the wheel.

This mistake, for a mistake it can only be supposed, is attended with some unreasonableness; in addition to which, it appears, there is one number short, not having been put into the wheel.—From what we can learn the lottery will be re-drawn.

By captain Farwell, of the ship Spy, in 14 days from Guadaloupe, we learned that the day before he sailed, the Governor informed him, that he was determined that all Americans which were in future taken trading from St. Domingo should be put to death, and that the official orders to that effect would issue the next day.

In the Spy came passengers, captains Harding, of this port ; Gillies, of New York ; and Gilpin, of Baltimore, with their crews; the vessels which they commanded had been some time since captured.

Captain F. says, that in Guadeloupe, it was generally imagined, that the fleet had sailed for France.

CHARLESTON, July 19.
The schooner Chance, Childs, 12 days from St. Domingo, anchored at quarantine last evening. Capt. Childs contradicts the reports of the combined fleets having been seen from the heights of St. Domingo standing towards Jamaica. No accounts whatever had been received of their operations.

Desfilines is stated to have lost nearly the half of his army in consequence of the wells and springs in the vicinity of his camp having been poisoned.

VINCENNES, (I. T.) June 19.
The following is a letter from capt.
Clark to his excellency governor Harrison.

Fort Mandin, 1609 miles up the Missouri, lat, 47, 21. 47, N. long. 101, 25, W: April 2d, 1805.

DEAR SIR,
By the return of a party which we send from this place with dispatches, I do myself the pleasure of giving you a summary view of the Missouri, &c. ascending as high as the Kansas, which is three hundred and thirty miles up the Missouri on the side, we met a strong current runs from five to seven miles a the bottoms extensive, and covered with timber, the high country is covered with rich handsome prairie well watered, and abounds in deer and game. In ascending as high as the Plate, we met a current not exceeding 6 miles an hour in distance we pass several rivers each side which water some fine fertile country, principally prairie between Vincennes, and the Illinois bottoms continue wide, and covered with timber, this river is about hundred yards wide, at the mouth navigable, it heads in the rock mountains with the North river Stone river, and passes through open country; fifteen leagues above the Ottos and thirty miles live in one village and can raise hundred men, 15 leagues higher the Peneas and Peneas republic live in one village and can raise five hundred men; up the Wolf Fork river the Panie Loufils live in age and can raise two hundred men. These Indians have passed often frequently. River Plate about a hundred and thirty miles up Missouri, on the south-west side: here we find the antelope or prairie the next river of six ascending, is one river commonly called by the Indians, Little river Des Sioux: it rises in lake Despire, fifteen miles from the river Demoir, and is about a hundred yards wide. Here commences the prairie country. The next river of the Big Sioux river, which with the St. Peters and waters of Minnesota, in some high wooded country. About ninety miles higher up the river, Jacque, falls in on the same about one hundred yards this river heads with the waters of Minnesota, at no great distance from this place. The head of the river is in Pelican lake, between Sioux rivers and the St. Peters country on both sides of the Missouri, from the River plate to that place, as very much the same appearance extensive fertile plains; with but little timber, and that little principle confined to the river bottom and streams. The country east of this place, and off from the Missouri as low as Stone river, contains a number of small lakes, many of which are said to be so much impregnated with glaucous salts, as to produce a fever; certain it is, that the waters of the small streams from the hills on the south-west side, possess a poisonous quality.

About the river Jacque, the country contains great quantities of minerals, cobalt, cinnabar, alumina, and several other things stone coal which is on the Missouri very indifferent. Ascending above the Jacque, the river falls in on the south-west side river is, 1026 miles up, 15 wide, not navigable; it heads Black mountains, which run parallel to the Missouri, from the head of the Kansas river, S. W. of this place. Quicker a broken country, 122 miles higher. White river falls in south-west side, and is 300 yds wide and navigable, as all the others are, which are not particularly mentioned. This river heads small lakes, short of the black mountains.

The Mahan and Ponean nations on the heads of this river and above, and can raise 250 men, very numerous a few years ago the small pox and the Sioux reduced them to their present number. The Sioux possess the south-west Missouri, above White river about 100 miles higher, and on the west in one village and can raise seven-hundred men; up the Wolf Fork of the river the Panie Loufils live in one village and can raise two hundred and thirty men. These Indians have partial culture frequently. River Plate is hundred and thirty miles up the

here we find the antelope or goat-the next river of size ascending, is the
Indians, Little river Des Sioux: it takes rise in lake Despice, fifteen miles on the river Demoir, and is sixty-four yards wide. Here commences the country. The next river of note is the Big Sioux river, which heads in the St. Peters and waters of lake Vincennes, in some high wooded country. About ninety miles higher up the river, Jacques, falls in on the same side about one hundred yards wide.
This river heads with the waters of lake Vincennes, at no great distance from this place. The head of the river De-sion is in Pilican lake, between the Sioux rivers and the St. Peters. The country on both sides of the Missouri, from the River Plate to that place, has very much the same appearance: extensive fertile plains; with but very little timber, and that little principally confined to the river bottoms and streams. The country east of this place, and off from the Missouri as low as Stone river, contains a number of small lakes, many of which are said to be so much impregnated with glauber salts, as to produce all its effects: certain it is, that the water in the small streams from the hills below, on the south-west side, possesses this quality.

About the river Jacques, Bruffala country contains great quantities of minerals, cobalt, cinnabar, alum, copperas, and several other things: the stone coal which is on the Missouri is very indifferent. Ascending 52 miles above the Jacques, the river Quicum falls in on the south-west side. This river is, 1026 miles up, 150 yards wide, not navigable; it heads in the Black mountains, which run nearly parallel to the Missouri, from about the head of the Kansas river, and end S. W. of this place. Quicum waters a broken country, 122 miles by water higher. White river falls in on the south-west side, and is 300 yards wide, and navigable, as all the other streams are, which are not particularly mentioned. This river heads in some small lakes, short of the black mountains.
The Mahan and Ponean nation rove on the heads of this river and the Qui-cum, and can raise 250 men, they were very numerous a few years ago, but the small pox and the Sioux have reduced them to their present state; the Sioux possess the south-west of the
miles higher, and on the west side.

Teton river falls into it, it is small, and heads in the open plains; here we met a large band of Sioux, and the second which we had seen called Tetons, those are great rascals, and may justly be termed the pirates of the Missouri; they made two attempts to stop us; they are subdivided and stretched on the river to near this place, having reduced the Ruras, and Mandans, and drove them from the country they now occupy, the Sioux bands rove in the country to the Mississippi. About 47 miles above the Teton river, the Chyenne river falls in from the south west, 400 yards wide, and navigable to the Black mountains, in which it takes its rise, in the 3d range. Several bands of Indians but little known, rove on the heads of this and the river Plate, and are stated to be as follows: Chayenne, 300 men; Steatons 100 men; Canenaviech, 400 men; Cavanwa and Wetahato, 200 men; Cataha 70 men; Detain, 30 men; Memetoon, 50 men; Castahana, 1300 men; it is probable that some of these bands are the remains of the Paducar nation; at 1440 miles up the Missouri, (and a short distance above two handsome rivers which take their rise in the Black mountains) the Richaras, live in three villages, and are the remains of ten different tribes of Paneas, who have been reduced and drove from their country lower down, by the Sioux, their number is about 300 men, they raise corn, beans, &c. and appear friendly and well disposed, they were at war with the nations of this neighbourhood, we have brought about a peace between the Recars and this place, two rivers fall in on the south-west, and one on the north-east, not very long, and take their rise in the open country; this country abounds in a great variety of wild animals, but a few of which the Indians take, many of those animals are uncommon in the United States, such as white, red and grey bears, long ear'd mule or black tail deer, (black at the end of the tail only) large hare, antelope or goat, the red fox, the ground prairie dog, (burrows in the ground) the braroca, which has a head like a dog, & the size of a small dog, the white brant, magpye, calumet, eagle, &c. and many others are said to inhabit the rocky mountains.

I have collected the following account of the rivers and country in advance of this, to wit: at two days march in advance of this, the little Missouri falls in on the south side, and heads at the north-west extremity of the Black mountains; six days further a large river joins the Missouri, affording as much water as the main river, this river is rapid, without a fall, and navigable to the Rocky mountains, its branches head with the waters of river Plate; the country in advance is said to be broken.

The trade of the nations at this place is from the N. W. and Hudson's Bay establishments, on the Assiniboin river, distant about 150 miles; those traders are nearly at open war with each other, and better calculated to destroy than promote the happiness of those nations to whom they have lat-terly extended their trade, and intend to form an establishment near this place in the course of this year.

An arrival at Boston, which spoke the United States Gun Boat No. 8, was the bearer of the following letter from the commander.

"Gun boat No. 8, at sea,
"lat. 37, N. long. 16, 20,
"W. May 17, 1805.

"SIR,
"The day I failed from Boston, (4th May,) we had strong S. W. winds. In crossing the Gulf stream the wind blew hard from the N. N. W. we did not however ship much water.
On the 13th and 14th instant we experienced a very heavy gale of wind from N. W. to N. N. W. towards the close of which we had a succession of as heavy squalls as I have experienced for many years. Several times we bore up and scudded before the storm, the boat behaved well, and I pronounce her perfectly safe to cross the Atlantic.

"While scudding in the height of the gale, a sea struck, and broached us too, owing to the carelessness of the the men at the helm. Our storm square-sail was split, and blown to atoms, and our top sail yard which was lashed on deck, was by the force of the sea, broken into three pieces; we then set the storm fore sail and made very good weather.

"With the wind a little free we sail eight miles per hour.

A schooner from Marblehead, commanded by captain Smithhurst, drifting out of the harbor of Passamaquoddy, whilst her papers as usual were in the custom house, was met by a British armed brig, who sent her barge on board and took possession of her.
Some gentlemen from Eastport and the custom-house officers who had gone down for the purpose of taking the papers on board the schooner, went alongside, were at first forbidden to come on board, whilst the British mid-shipman (pointing to a particular man) ordered him on board; he refusing they lashed him and another man round the neck and dragged them on board the brig: at length the custom-house officer was suffered to come on board; after relating the circumstances demanded a reason for the schooner's detention, and informed them they were under the American flag, and had the vessel's register and people's protections; the lieutenant damned their flag, register and protections, and ordered all of them, except the two men they had lashed on board, into the boat.
The captain of the schooner requesting to see the custom-house officer received a violent blow from one of the British. Through the intercession of the gentlemen of Eastport and St. Andrews the two men were released after having been in prison three days; but the vessel is still detained at St. George.
The conduct of the British officers towards our countrymen, would disgrace Algerines.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Letters of the 4th of May, from the coast of Spain, containing a caution of a nature rather extraordinary, have been received in town. They say, "in consequence of the rumors in circulation here respecting Portugal, we deem it prudent not to address you any longer by the way of Lisbon, but through the medium of Holland."

Madame Jerome Bonaparte has seen very little company since her arrival in London.

A letter from Paris, dated May 18, says—"I suppose you have heard that many of the United Irish are quitting this country for America. Dr. McNe-vin has resigned his commission in the Irish Legation, and is going there; Emmett is already there; Sampson, the barrister, and Sweeney, who killed Corbett in a duel, are also going."

It is reported that some meetings of disaffected persons (some say several thousands) have been lately observed in the county of Kildare, Ireland.

The Paris Moniteur says, that "an ambassador from the king of Persia had arrived at Constantinople, to complain of the conduct of a pacha, of of three tails, who refused to supply with provisions a Persian army of 100,000 men, who were pursuing the Russians, while he had granted supplies to the Russians." The Moniteur adds, "the ambassador cannot obtain any thing from a corrupt and enervat-ed Divan, who seem to be the only persons in the world who do not see or dare not look at the fate which attends Turkey. They dread to perceive that empire hasten to its ruin, and that those Ottomans, formerly so proud and brave, are on the eve of perishing without the honor of war, so much are they pressed and surrounded by the Russians.

Bonaparte in answering the address of the people of Milan, and speaking of Italy, says—"God has given me a good sword to scatter my enemies."

tion of British manufactures.

IN COMMON COUNCIL.

18th July, 1805.

RESOLVED, That the Clerk of the Market be and he is hereby instructed, not to rent out the stalls of the market house, for the present year, at a less sum than ten dollars per annum for each stall.

20th July, 1805.

AN act to amend an act entitled an act for ascertaining the fees of prisoners committed to the watch house, was brought in, and having been read three times was passed and ordered to be laid before the Mayor for his signature.

Ordered, That Messrs. Swift, Janney, and McKinney, be a committee to see if any what alterations are necessary in the act for providing a revenue for the year 1805, and to report by bill or otherwise.

Ord. red. That Messrs. Swift, Lumdon, and McKinney, be a committee to enquire whether it be necessary to erect a bridge on Oranoko street, between Columbus and Alfred streets, and what will be the probable expence of the same, and to report to Council.

23d July, 1805.

Ordered, That Messrs. Deneale and Swift be a committee to examine and settle the accounts of the Corporation with Ralph Longden, and report if any and what balance is due from the Corporation to the said Ralph Longden, as keeper of the poor house.

The committee appointed to enquire whether any and what alterations are necessary in the law for providing a revenue, reported a bill, which was read three times and passed, and ordered to be laid before the Mayor for his signature.

INFORM THE PUBLIC,
That they have just received from London, via Baltimore, a small but well-chosen collection of ENGRAVINGS, from the best European artists, and which they presume are superior to any now offered for sale in Alexandria.

Amongst these works are—A sublime representation of the last Supper, from a painting by West, historical painter to the king of England.

The Redeemer, by Miller.
Saint John, by the Rev. W. Peters, Rector.
A full-length Portrait of Lewis the sixteenth, in his robes of state, by Collet, painter to the unfortunate king.

The Ale-House Door and the Hay-Market, with a few more Fancy Pieces.

They have, likewise, procured from Philadelphia a few Copies of the Four valuable Lots, on the fourth side of King-Street, between Fayette and Henry-Street; each lot fronting 20 feet on King-Street, and running back 100 feet to a 12 feet alley.—The situation of this property is such (being in one of the most thriving parts of the town) as to make the possession of it very desirable to any person having money to purchase, more especially to dealers in country produce.

Also, for Sale,

A House and Lot, on the fourth side of King-Street, near Washington-Street, and opposite the store of Mr. James Bacon. This situation is equal to any in town for business.

Likewise to Let, for the term of ten years.

An half-acre Lot on Duke and Pitt-Street, most eligibly situated for a Garden or Clover Lot, for which purpose only it would be rented. As manure has been thrown up in heaps upon it for several years the ground cannot but be as rich as could be wished. July 17.

AS IT becomes a duty I owe to myself, as well as my friends, to take notice of a publication which appeared the last week in the Federalist, dated at Piscataway, the 13th instant, and signed by John F. Bowie, I shall briefly make the following statement.

A short time previous to the 4th of July last, this said John F. Bowie, had fabricated and told a most malicious and unfounded falsehood, implicating ladies of the purest and highest respectability. In consequence of which I took the liberty of chastising this valiant young man in a manner I thought such base conduct merited, which was by giving him a sound and manly caning.

Pursuant to this, by imposing on a friend of mine, who knew not the contents from its being sealed, & being unable to procure a gentleman to be the bearer, I received the subjoined Broughton challenge, which I shall publish herewith for the information of others. The inability of the said Bowie, to procure a friend in his own neighborhood where he was well known, still existing, he travelled upwards of forty miles to procure one, whom he knew to be a stranger to his machinations and vices, and prevailed on him to be the messenger to demand the satisfaction due a gentleman. Having doubts myself of the propriety of meeting such a man, with the advice of such friends as were about me, I required until the Wednesday following to give a final answer. It will be, no doubt observed, that his publication dated the 13th has been premature, since the time fixed on for my answer, would not arrive before the 17th. I have now only to request a suspension of the public opinion, when a short time shall determine who is the petulant John F. Bowie, or,

CAROLINE MILLS, FOR SALE.

WILL be sold at public sale on the premises, on the 2d day of the 9th month, (September) next, a Merchant and country Mill, with 150 acres of land, on which are sufficient houses for the accommodation of millers and others; situate on the river Rappahannock, about two miles below the town of Port Royal, on a stream of water sufficient for three water wheels and four pair of stones, at almost all seasons of the year; is in the best wheat county perhaps in the state, where no competition can be dreaded and is on tide water.

The Merchant Mill has two overshot water wheels and three pair of five feet Burr stones, with every apparatus of manufacturing flour to the best advantage, is capable of making ten thousand barrels of flour annually.

The Country Mill is nearly adjoining the other, has one overshot water wheel, and one pair of five feet Burr Stones, is surrounded by wealthy farmers, who have large families and it is known that the profits arising from this country Mill alone will more than pay the interest of the money, the whole is supposed to be worth, in short this whole property is thought by judges to be the most valuable of the kind in the state of Virginia, and is sold in consequence of the death of Aquila Janney, to enable the subscriber to close the concerns of the late partnership of Aquila and Elihu Janney.

Terms of sale will be one fourth in cash, or an approved negotiable note at sixty days; the balance in three equal payments, at six, nine and twelve months, bearing interest from the day of sale, and to be secured in such manner as may be determined on, and made known at the time and place of sale.

VALUABLE FAMILY MEDICINES.

Just received direct from the Patentees, and FOR SALE BY

JAMES KENNEDY, JUN.

DRUGGIST;

The following Valuable Medicines:

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomach Bitters.

PREPARED BY

THOMAS H. RAWSON,

Member of the Connecticut Medical Society.

THESE Bitters have undoubtedly had the most rapid sale of any Patent Medicine ever before discovered, and are justly appreciated for their singular and uncommon virtues for restoring weak and decayed constitutions, and all that train of complicated complaints so common in the spring and fall seasons, such as intermittent Fevers and Agues, long Autumnal Fevers, Dysenteries, &c. They are also a very pleasant bitter for common use, and where they are known they have taken the place and superceded the use of all other bitters in public houses as well as in private families.—Price 50 cents a box.

Dr. Lee's (Windham) Billious Pills.

THE great sale and increasing demand for these valuable pills for these twelve years past, speaks their intrinsic worth. They have proved singularly efficacious in Bilious and Yellow Fevers, Jaundice, Head Aches, Dysenteries, Billious Cholera, Colic, &c. Female complaints, &c.

The very great demand and high esteem in which these pills are held throughout the United States and the West Indies, has induced many to counterfeit them; the purchaser is requested to observe that the name of Samuel Lee, jun. (the patented) is affixed to each bill of directions, in his own hand writing, or they will not be genuine.—Price 50 cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Itch Ointment.

A certain and safe application for that disagreeable complaint called the ITCH. Price 40 cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious Pills, or, Family Physic.

The extraordinary celebrity these pills have gained, the universal demand for them and esteem in which they are held by medical men of the first eminence, are sufficient testimonials of their intrinsic worth. In great colds and sudden attacks of disorders, an early use of these pills often produces the happiest effects, and taken once in eight or ten days in cases of indigestion, headaches, ciz, zinzels, pains in the stomach and bowels, dysenteries, diarrhoeas, dropsies, &c. and a liberal use of my anti-bilious bitters in the intermediate time has relieved patients almost to a miracle.—price 25 cents a box.

Thompson's Aromatic Tooth Paste.

For the scurvy in the teeth and gums, and for whitening and preserving the teeth. It likewise takes off all disagreeable smells from the breath, which generally arises from scorbutic gums and bad teeth. This paste is much in use, and highly esteemed by all those who value the preservation of their teeth, it may be applied at all times with the greatest safety. It is neatly put up in powder boxes with paper directions. Price 50 cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Worm Powders.

A medicine which for efficacy and safety in its operation stands unrivalled. The most authenticated proofs and respectable authorities of its astonishing virtues, and surprising effects, in extreme and alarming cases of worms, may be seen at the place of sale. Price 50 cents a packet.

Dr. Cooley's Vegetable Elixir; Or Cough Drops,

For Coughs, Colds, Asthmas, spitting of blood, and all diseases of the lungs. Its merits stand unrivalled. Price 50 cents a bottle.

Dr. Cooley's Rheumatic Pills.

Price 50 cents a box.

Hinkley's Infallible remedy for the Piles.

Price 50 Cents a Box.

Very particular directions accompanying each of these valuable medicines.

He has likewise for Sale,

A general assortment of Drugs, Patent Medicines, Shop furniture and Vials; a few hand some Hall Lamps; Indian Shades; proof vials; Essence of Spruce; Patent Blacking; Madeira and Sherry wine; black bottles in hogheads; Paints ground in oil; and a few barrels Flaxseed Oil, which he will sell on reasonable terms for cash, or to punctual customers on a short credit.

A generous allowance will be made to those who purchase the above Medicines by the dozen
